

Another random list of amazing stories.

Got a news tip or story idea? E-mail newsroom@cnglocal.com.

To find out how to advertise, click here.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 23, 2011

Foes decry Park ‘tax’ scheme, push for revenue from Witness buildings

BY LAURA GOTTESDIENER

BRIDGE ‘PARK’: Brooklyn Bridge Park could raise one-quarter of its massive maintenance budget through a new tax on local businesses and residents — but that idea is dead in the water, say critics, who think there are better ways to raise the money.

Road rage! Lookout, cyclists — there’s an ambulance in the bike lane!

BY NATALIE O’NEILL

MEAN STREETS: An ambulance driver who abandoned traffic-choked Prospect Park West to use the controversial bike lane as a shortcut was hardly an isolated incident.

What’s cooking at Moore Street? Food entrepreneurship, that’s what

BY AARON SHORT

WILLIAMSBURG: Brooklyn’s next great food trend could be born at the Williamsburg’s Moore Street Market.

Fifth Avenue gets trash cans straight out of ‘The Jetsons’

BY LAURA GOTTESDIENER

THE GREATEST STORY EVER: In Park Slope, even the garbage gets a fancy new home.

Our chef offers ribs — the Brooklyn way

BY JOE RAIOLA

PRIME TIME: Joe Raiola from Morton's sauces us up, but good!

It's Wednesday, so get your fill of crime news!

LINK: It's Police Blotter day on BrooklynPaper.com. Find your neighborhood below or click the link above to get a full list.

See also:

Park Slope: Didn't rob me? Well, I'm hitting you anyway

Brooklyn Heights: This was a real potty crime

Williamsburg: Motorino's human-powered bikes stolen!

Prospect Heights: This thief was charged up

Greenpoint: Movie shoot picked clean

Bay Ridge: Slice and dice on Fourth Ave

A new American 'Colonie' opens — with your help — in the Heights

BY LINNEA COVINGTON

DINING: Maybe Al Gore should take credit for this restaurant.

School daze! State budget cuts kill new W'burg PS

BY AARON SHORT

BROOKLYN IS ANGRY: School's out — for five years.